

ABSTRACT

On a bulletin board on the Internet, if a visitor applies for a mail transmission and a gift delivery to a posted person or to a posted message, then a confirmation is made by a storage unit that the receiver of the gift is the same receiver of the mail; a confirmation is made by a payment processing unit that a payment for the gift is completed; and a mail address of the posted person or of the posted message is notified by the storage unit to the visitor, who has completed the gift, so as to allow the visitor to send a mail to the posted person.
